1	There were 4 presenters from two different organizations. During the presentation they kept getting up and down from the raised podium to explain slides which was very distracting. Although, they had a great deal of knowledge about the subject, the handouts were poor and we have to email them to get any other tools referred to in the presentation.
2	Some interactive type of training would have made the workshop more interesting. The workshop was on training and it would have enhanced the type of learning available.
3	The NHS team was great. They knew their material and simply talked about it in a very sharing manner
4	It was a good workshop but it was meant for a big organization. It did not fit to our medium size organization
5	I replied to all three workshops. I would like to mention about CARA meeting on Tuesday morning at 8 a.m. They were late and delayed other meeting. I do not think I got all questions answered satisfactorily by CARA delegates. Many unclear and unanswered questions still remains and wish COA would try to fix Indian adoption problems.
6	The use of 4 trainers seemed a bit much but when they began the training, it was very effective and well organized. Great teamwork. I can't believe this was the first time they met in person.
7	I plan to utilized what I learn at my office to help improve the quality of our centralized training.
8	I enjoyed the presentation but don't think it covered the topic as advertised.
9	Of the 4, 3 were with a system delivery program and had a great deal to impart. The 4th seemed to be "competing" and bringing in situationally specific information where it really did not fit.
