1	Having done workshops myself, sometimes they are on the money and sometimes they're not. Unfortunately, this time the workshop was weak and predictable.
2	Presenters were comfortable with their topic and with the audience. More time would have been useful for the content and discussion. Case vignettes were very complex for the time available.
3	The workshop was too general and for people that know nothing about adoption. Most people that attended know all this information it would had been better to do something more advanced.
4	One speaker didn't really allow the other to speak / participate.
