1	Great presentation
2	This was a very basic RM presentation. Would have like it to be more in-depth and heard more from the COA staff that wrote it and for deeper meanings. Perhaps more audience involvement
3	This was a very good, basic workshop.
4	This was one of those workshops that could EASILY have been two days. There was so much information involved with this workshop that it could have been broken down into two parts. I thought the presentation of the workshop was a great idea, starting out with a COA staff that basically just went quickly through the RPM standards and pointed out some important ones, and then having someone come up who spent time going through the hot spots within those standards and what to look for, and what to make sure you are meeting with regards to those standards. Toward the end of the workshop, I felt the presenter had to rush through some things in order to stay within the time frame, but I thought the information was valuable, especially for those going through accreditation for the first time, or those heading toward reaccreditation.
5	I think because we have just gone through accreditation, the workshop seemed basic & had I known this ahead of time, I would have attended a different workshop. Still a helpful reminder.
6	Same old.
7	This session was very basic. This would have been for a organization that is just starting to put a Risk Management Program together.
8	I think the presenters were as expert as you could get for the topic. However, as someone who is fairly familiar with the standards, I was interested in some new information. It was a good reminder. The whole conference seemed to be geared towards organizations that were just being introduced to certain topics. Hopefully, the next conference will offer more advanced topics. You very well may have offered them and I just did not select them.
9	This was very specific to Residential Care facilities and the speaker was dull.
